DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claims 1-13 and 15-16 withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected inventions, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 5/16/2008.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 14 and 17-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 14, applicant should clarify how the magnetic alloy thin ribbon are determined to have magnetic domain width m of 0.106mm or less with respect to their longitudinal directions. Claims 17-19 inherit the defect of the parent claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 14 and 17-19, as best understood in view of the rejection under 35 USC 112 second paragraph, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Copeland et al. [US 2003/0117282 A2] in view of Steigerwald [US 4,047,138].

Regarding claims 14 and 18, Copeland et al. discloses an inductor [figure 1] comprising:

- a magnetic core [4] formed of a plurality of amorphous magnetic alloy ribbons; and
- a coil [6] wound about the core, wherein the core having a width of 2cm and a length of 75cm.

Copeland et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for the specific magnetic domain width m.

The specific magnetic domain width would have been an obvious design consideration based on the intended applications/environments uses.

Regarding claim 19, Copeland et al. discloses the instant claimed invention except for the specific material use for the core.

Steigerwald discloses a Co-Fe based core for use in inductor.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to use Co-based material for the laminated magnetic core of Copeland et al., as suggested by Steigerwald, for the purpose of enhancing magnetic properties.

Regarding claim 17, the structure of the magnetic core shown by Copeland et al. would provide an induced magnetic anisotropy in an in-plane width direction.
